Ms. Drogos:

As a follow-up to my telephone conversation with Daniel Firth on yesterday, I canvassed our team about the possibility a meeting in advance of the 4/30/09 date we were initially given. In view of the limitations conveyed by Mr. Firth, which suggest that it would be more beneficial to wait until after your review of the subject case is completed, we have withdrawn our request for a meeting in advance of April 30th. Unfortunately, we are unable to meet on that date, since a critical member of our team, our environmental consultant, will not be able to attend.

We, therefore, ask if it is possible to meet with you at anytime on Wednesday, May 6, or at some time after 1:00 p.m., on Thursday, May 7, 2009. If these dates don't work for you, alternate dates and times would be appreciated. We are also flow from your as-yet incomplete review of the addendum Chevron submitted on March 23, 2009, it was the consensus of the team that it would be more beneficial to schedule a meeting as soon as possible after the 4/30/09, since one of our consultants is not available to meet on that date. Thank you.
