Thank you for the copy of your letter.

Following our conversation this morning, I talked with both Binayak Acharya at ECM and James Yoo at ACPWA. Fortunately, Binayak located copies of the DWR well destruction forms at Nestle offices this morning. James also thought he had electronic copies of the same forms on file at his office and is going to let me know if and when he locates these well destructions forms.

Either way, it looks like we should have the proper documentation of the well destruction activities as requested in your Jan. 29, 2007 letter to Nestle and Encinal.
