Tom,

Monitoring well MW-100 was originally installed in 2001 to delineate groundwater quality to the northeast as part of Nestle USA investigation activities. No other wells appear to be located east of the TPH plume that originates from the northwestern portion of the site. Any future groundwater monitoring needs for the TPH plume in the northwestern portion of site have not been determined pending completion of ongoing assessment and reporting activities by Nestle USA. Therefore, we would not make a determination that well MW-100 be permanently decommissioned until the ongoing assessment and reporting activities are completed or progressed to the point that such a determination could be supported.

If necessary in the short term, Alameda County Environmental Health would have no objection to replacing well MW-100 with a replacement well some distance to the west. A request to decommission or replace well MW-100 must be acknowledged by Nestle USA and would require a short work plan for well decommissioning and replacement.

Hello Jerry,

Per our discussion on Tuesday, September 9th, I would like to request a formal notification that MW-#100 (as show on the last page of the attached work plan – most eastern MW) is no longer needed.

Please let me know what information you need in order to obtain a formal notification.

Thanks,
