Anye,

We have not heard back on the matter of notification and availability of the parking lot for our pilot test that is scheduled to begin on January 7th. If we do not receive confirmation that the parking lot will be closed that week by close-of-business on January 2, 2008, we will have to re-schedule the pilot test.

ALL:

Please note that effective December 21, 2007, I will be on a leave of absence from work, returning March 27, 2008. During my absence, please contact Jacquelyn England of our Sonoma office about this project. Her contact information is as follows:

Anye,

On December 5th, I sent you the following message concerning notification of Central Parking of the January work

12/20/2007

dates at this site:

Anye,

We have confirmed our pilot test schedule for the dates originally proposed on the project schedule and will need full access to the parking lot for the following dates:

January 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11, 2008.

Please let Central Parking know about these dates for early January.

As you can see from the message below from Warren Frank, Central Parking does not appear to have been informed of these dates. Please discuss with your tenant, and confirm with us whether or not we will be able to conduct the pilot test scheduled for January 7 through 11, 2008.

Lauren,

I received your phone message yesterday afternoon. I will make sure the lot is closed on Monday, December 17, 2007, as previously agreed. You also mentioned that your company will need access to that lot the week of January 7, 2008. We were not aware of this requirement. I spoke to Soliman Dogha, my immediate supervisor about this. Central Parking will need this requirement documented from your company. This request will have to go to Alisha Stanfield, our General Manager. Soliman informed me that he had previously spoken to someone named Ann or Anna at your company about this matter in the past.

Call me with any questions or concerns about this requirement.
