Responsible Party Identification Background

Alameda County Environmental Health (ACEH) names a "Responsible Party," as defined under 23 C.C.R Sec. 2720. Section 2720 defines a responsible party 4 ways. An RP can be:

1. "Any person who owns or operates an underground storage tank used for the storage of any hazardous substance."
2. "In the case of any underground storage tank no longer in use, any person who owned or operated the underground storage tank immediately before the discontinuation of its use."
3. "Any owner of property where an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance from an underground storage tank has occurred."
4. "Any person who had or has control over an underground storage tank at the time of or following an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance."

ACEH has named the responsible parties for this site as detailed below.

Responsible Party Identification

Existence of Unauthorized Release

In September 1997, six soil gas probes were advanced and sampled in the area of the underground storage tanks (USTs), dispensers, and product lines as part of a baseline site investigation. Subsequent site investigations have detected petroleum hydrocarbons and fuel oxygenates in soil and groundwater beneath the site. Based on the site characterization data, an unauthorized release or releases occurred from the UST system.

Responsible Party Identification

ConocoPhillips was identified as the primary or active responsible party for the site in a Notice of Responsibility dated July 22, 2005. ConocoPhillips is a responsible party for the fuel leak because they or their corporate predecessors were the business owner, tank owner, and tank operator at the time of the unauthorized release (Definition 1), were the property owner at the time of the unauthorized release (Definition 3), and had control of the UST at the time of or following an unauthorized release (Definition 4).

Thomas T. and Celine T. Vadakkekunnel were identified as responsible parties for the site in a Notice of Responsibility dated July 22, 2005. Thomas T. and Celine T. Vadakkekunnel are responsible parties for the fuel leak because they were the property owner where an unauthorized release occurred (Definition 3).

Hakam S. and Simrat K Misson purchased the property in June 2012. As the current owner of the property where an unauthorized release occurred (Definition 3), Hakam S. and Simrat K Misson are also responsible parties.
