Returned voice mail from Rachel Green. She reports and profusely apologized that somehow the geotech company gained access to the site, which she has never been able to do and still can't believe they did, and installed two geotech. soil bores to 50 ft. She understands that they have not completed, or submitted, the HASP for the site. She believes that the geotech company thought that the drilling permit was the only limitation on accessing the site, and that somehow during the yearend holidays, they were able to access the site. She is having PES review the data to determine if there may be compromised data quality, or to the environmental / geologic condition of the site. A report will be forthcoming.
