Hi Eric,

Thank you for your email, I would like to come out to the site to introduce myself and observe. I contacted the main number and they said that you weren't there. I just left you a voice mail on your cell with my phone number, but I imagine that you are driving out now. If I don't hear from you, I plan on being at the site around 10:00 am. If you get this email or my phone message and think you may be running really late and can let me know that is appreciated, but I understand that might be difficult. Thank you.

Regards,

Anne
