Jake Winn 650-917-4646 of Barell Private Bank and Trust called regarding 909 Bluebell Drive in Livermore. He wanted to know whether contamination had gotten better or worse and was concerned with progress on case. I described role of regulators in providing oversight. Planning and implementation of investigation and cleanup is the responsibility of responsible parties and is generally conducted by an environmental consultant hired by the owner. He asked whether site would be closed and asked whether work was in accordance with work plan. I indicated that the recent pilot test report included recommendations for additional off-site investigation and installation of extraction wells and a pumping test. Pilot test report also indicated that results were disappointing and that no contamination was removed. Therefore, site does not appear to be ready for closure. We base decisions on case closure on regulations and other guidance and criteria but decisions are made on a case-specific basis. I recommended that he discuss technical issues and plans for future progress with the environmental consultant reviewing the case. I indicated that he could call me in the future.
