Importance: High

Hi Paresh –

I hate to do this, I think we need additional extension on our remediation report.

We have been trying to meet our December 20, 2011 revised deadline (see below), but the excavation happened a little later than we'd planned, we had some delays in the lab data reporting, and our client goes on vacation tomorrow. Additionally, we are still waiting on the contractor to dispose of the waste water and some excavated material. As a result, it looks we're going to have trouble making the deadline.

We would like to push it back one month (due to upcoming holidays and our client's vacation schedule) and have the report due January 20 instead of December 20. Please let me know if you approve the extension.

Thanks,
Avery

Subject: Crown Chevrolet - extension

Hi Paresh –

Your letter dated June 30, 2011, requested a remediation report and soil and groundwater investigation report by September 27, 2011.

We anticipate providing our investigation report by that date; however, we only today just received authorization from Crown Chevrolet's insurance company to perform the remediation work. We are planning to perform the remediation as soon as possible, but, based on the delay, we request a 3-month extension on the remediation report, with a new submission date of December 20, 2011.

I also wanted to let you know that we are expanding our remediation work to include a nearby area with similar conditions. We will be using the same techniques, and will document the additional remediation in the same report as our planned sump remediation.

Please let me know if you approve the extension request.

Thanks,
Avery
