Dwight,

Once you get the reports upload to Geotracker, it'll still need lab EDFs. Just call and ask them – for all analytical to date.

Also as we discussed, characterization of the backfill material is required. Presuming it is landscaping supplied top soil, Mr. Meuser can probably simply document the vender source, name, and total yardage. Per previous communications, recycled baserock needs analytical testing as previously outlined. “Virgin” material does not as it is assumed to be from a quarry or rockery.

Mark!

Attached is the report you requested with the signature and now the stamp is affixed! I will also up load it Geotracker.

Thanks for your assistance with the Alameda FTP site....I am working on a PC with the latest Windows....but I normally attribute these issues to operator error...

Let me know if other stuff is needed....

Dwight,

In order to move the case toward closure, I need to get the case ready for public comments, which means that both Geotracker and the ACDEH website need to be brought up to date with reports or other required items (basically so the public can review and comment, if interested). I discovered that the September 3 or 4, 2015 report is still without a professional stamp and can't be accepted on both websites. Can you get that fixed? Geotracker also requires EDFs from the lab.

Once you get them updated, let me know. Just send me the reports by email since your uploads are not going through for some reason (Are you using a Mac based system?; That sometimes causes problems).

Keep me posted.

Thanks,

Mark Detterman
