Keith,

As we discussed, during the redevelopment of the 205 Brush Street site what we believe is a well was discovered beneath the slab. The approximate location of the well is provide on attached figure. The well was discovered at a depth of approximately 2 feet below the existing top of pavement. When found, the well was covered by a thin metal sheet with a large rock on top of the metal sheet. I have also attached a photo of the well.

We have been in contact with the Alameda County Public Works Agency (ACPWA) to discuss the required destruction of this well. Based on discussions with ACPWA staff, it is anticipated that we will obtain the well destruction permit in the next day or so and the destruction work will begin this Friday. I will keep you in the loop on the progression of the work.

Please contact me with any questions.

Thanks,

John Lucio
