Responsible Party Identification Background

Alameda County Environmental Health (ACEH) names a "Responsible Party," as defined under 23 C.C.R Sec. 2720. Section 2720 defines a responsible party 4 ways. An RP can be:

1. "Any person who owns or operates an underground storage tank used for the storage of any hazardous substance."
2. "In the case of any underground storage tank no longer in use, any person who owned or operated the underground storage tank immediately before the discontinuation of its use."
3. "Any owner of property where an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance from an underground storage tank has occurred."
4. "Any person who had or has control over an underground storage tank at the time of or following an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance."

ACEH has named the responsible parties for this site as detailed below.

Responsible Party Identification

On April 4, 1992, a 500-gallon home heating oil UST removed from the site. Initial sampling detected 7,900 ppm TPHd at 3 to 3.5 feet bgs and the tank had holes on the bottom. Overexcavation occurred to 5 feet bgs and TPHd was reported at 1,400 ppm.

Responsible Party Identification

The Priscilla F. Shenk Trust owned the property since August 1988 and removed the underground storage tanks in 1992. Therefore, the Priscilla F. Shenk Trust meets the definition of a responsible party for the site because they owned the property where an unauthorized release occurred, (Definition 3), had control over an underground storage tank at the time or following an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance (Definition 4) and they owned a UST used for the storage of a hazardous substance (Definition 1).

Karen K Plessinger and Nicholas E. Moore purchased the property in January 1999. Karen K Plessinger and Nicholas E. Moore meet the definition of a responsible party for the site because they owned the property where an unauthorized release occurred, (Definition 3).
