Hi Dilan,

As we discussed last week, we would like to propose a date of 7/31 for submittal of the addendum report we talked about, with a draft to come to you a week or so prior to then. Does that sound reasonable?

James

Hi Catalina:

Sorry for the delay. I have been finalizing my comments this morning and planned on sending over to you shortly. However, in order to provide sufficient time for your review I think your suggestion of postponing the call until next week would be a good idea. My schedule is open next week except for Wednesday morning. Thank you for your flexibility.

Hi Dilan,

We haven't received your comments regarding the subject site. I know these are busy times. I wonder if it would be a good idea to reschedule our call to give you some time to send your comments and some time for me and James to review them and prepare for a call with you. If you send your comments this week we can probably have a call with you towards the middle of next week. Does that sound ok to you?
