Mark,

The DPE system is now shut down, as we discussed last week. On Tuesday & Wednesday of next week, the next well sampling event (which will include all extraction and monitoring wells) will be performed. DPE will then be re-started the week after Thanksgiving. The two weeks of downtime for the DPE will thus be essentially a 'pulsed operation', as we talked about last week.

As soon as the well sampling results are in, we will quickly get you a status report that includes DPE data over the past few months, and also the groundwater data.
