Discussed site with Ben Chevlen of Stantec. Work plan submitted July 20, 2009 for installation of downgradient wells, injection points and soil vapor sampling. My preliminary review indicates that the injection wells would be downgradient of the highest concentrations and the proposed screen intervals seem to be too large. Ben said he would review the locations and submit a work plan addendum. I inform him that once the resolution reviews and closures have been completed that I can start working on reviewing work plans.
