Responsible Party Identification Background

Alameda County Environmental Health (ACEH) names a "Responsible Party," as defined under 23 C.C.R Sec. 2720. Section 2720 defines a responsible party 4 ways. An RP can be:

1. "Any person who owns or operates an underground storage tank used for the storage of any hazardous substance."
2. "In the case of any underground storage tank no longer in use, any person who owned or operated the underground storage tank immediately before the discontinuation of its use."
3. "Any owner of property where an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance from an underground storage tank has occurred."
4. "Any person who had or has control over an underground storage tank at the time of or following an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance."

ACEH has named the responsible parties for this site as detailed below.

Responsible Party Identification

Existence of Unauthorized Release

An active trucking facility operates at the subject property located at 15651 Worthley Drive in San Lorenzo, Ca. A 12,000-gallon underground storage tank, installed in 1986, was removed on April 30, 2003. Sampling of groundwater infiltrating the tank pit revealed concentrations of 2,560 micrograms per liter (Ag/L) total petroleum hydrocarbons (TPH) as diesel, indicating an unauthorized release had occurred from the underground storage tank system at this site.

Responsible Party Identification

Transportation Terminals Company purchased the property in March 1986. Transportation Terminals Company meets the definition of a responsible party for the site because they owned the property where an unauthorized release occurred (Definition 3).

DiSalvo Trucking meets the definition of a responsible party for the site because they operated the tank (Definition 1) and had control over an underground storage tank at the time of an unauthorized release of a hazardous substance (Definition 4).
